Good Money Habits Help You and Your Money Grow!

Money allows us to buy essential things we need, like a place to live and food to eat, as well as things you may want, like a game or bike; however, earning and saving money for those things takes planning. As a young member of your family, you may be able to earn money by doing chores for family or neighbors, like yard work or pet sitting.

Once you begin earning money, it's important to set goals and learn good money habits. Doing this at an early age will help you develop strong money management skills as you get older. You can start by talking with your parents or guardians about what to do with the money you have earned or received as a gift, such as saving, spending, and giving to others in need.

A fun way to carry out your plan is to use jars labeled Spend, Save, and Donate. Add to the jars each time you earn or receive money. Be sure to add your savings to your SECU FAT CAT account. If you stop by your local branch with your parents or guardians, an SECU representative will be happy to talk with you about wise money habits to help you and your money grow!
